

VOLUME LXIII.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1909.

CITY SCORES IN WATER CO. CASE

RAILROAD COMMISSION THINKS IT HAS JURISDICTION.

AND ACTS ACCORDINGLY

Will Send Engineers to Evaluate the Local Plant—Outlook for Consumers Very Bright.

Janesville appears to have won the first skirmish in its proceeding against the water company, according to the tidings which came from the Railroad Commission at Madison this morning. City Attorney H. L. Maxfield received the following letter:

"Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., Aug. 29, 1909. 'Mr. H. L. Maxfield, 'City Attorney, 'Janesville, Wis.

"Dear Sir: In the case of the City of Janesville vs. the Janesville Water Co. the commission is of the opinion that it has jurisdiction to proceed to make a valuation of the plant. The other questions raised by the pleadings will be determined after the hearing upon the petition. If it then becomes necessary to decide them, in our judgment this will be a more satisfactory way of dealing with the entire matter and enable either party to take the matter into court in the manner provided by the statute. The engineers of the commission will be directed to proceed with the evaluation.

Yours truly, 'J. M. WINTERBOTHAM, 'Secretary."

City May Appeal.

The Water Co. it will be remembered, has contended that inasmuch as it has a special contract with Janesville by special legislative enactment, no subsequent legislative enactment could impair the obligations and the commission, therefore, had no jurisdiction. If the company still has faith in the validity of its contention, it will probably either commence an action in the Dane county circuit court to set aside and vacate the commission's order, or get out an injunction restraining the engineers from making the evaluation of the property. If the commission's decision on the question of jurisdiction is upheld, it seems almost a foregone conclusion, in the light of former decisions in parallel cases, that the city will win out on the merits and rental questions.

Another Aspect.

The following special dispatch to 'The Gazette' from the Capital City throws a somewhat different light on the matter:

Madison, Wis., Aug. 31.—The Railroad Commission has announced no decision in the Janesville water case, but has informed City Attorney Maxfield and the water company that the evaluation will be proceeded with and the case heard on its merits without, at this time, passing on the company's denial of the commission's jurisdiction. The hearing will be held in October. The determination of the commission to proceed with the case without deciding the legal point raised by the company will bring the matter to a final conclusion more quickly and leave it in better shape for possible carrying to the courts. This determination in effect amounts to at least a temporary defeat of the company on its claim of no jurisdiction.

MONROE CITIZENS VISITED THE CITY

Came in Three Autos to Boom the Green County Gathering

Next Week. A delegation from Monroe made an automobile trip through Janesville and held Tuesday in the interest of the Green County Fair and Home Coming to be held at Monroe, Wis., Sept. 8-11.

Three automobiles brought the party which consisted of the following: F. Arthur, N. B. Trout, W. J. Kiehl, Peter Burke, Andrew Trickle, Dan Higgins, Oscar Sutherland, Luke Holcomb, John Tassier, Fred Tassier, B. G. Trent and Jack Nedman.

One of the attractions will be the Knight of Strathmore, the famous three-year-old pacer, owned by George H. Miller of Monroe, who will give an exhibition race each day of the fair for a purse which has been hunk up for the lowering of the world's mile record for three-year-olds on a one-half mile track.

The directors have greatly increased their usual appropriation for free acts and have engaged five acts, among which will be a seventy-five foot dive into a tank of water. A contract has been effected with one of the largest carnival companies on the road, and one nearly always playing state fairs, displaying 12 shows, among which will be "Big Ot-to's Animal Show."

Arrangements are now being made for the erection of a dance pavilion 35x51 on the grounds. In anticipation of the unusual crowds that will be in attendance, plans have been made to hold a night fair in addition to the usual three days, beginning Wednesday night, September 8 and including Saturday night, September 11. All free acts will appear during the day as well as in the evening and care has been taken that the night fair will in no way detract from the daily program.

LOVE HIGHWAYMAN MADE RICH HAIL ON RAILWAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31.—An early report says a lone highwayman held up a westbound express on the Pennsylvania railroad this morning near Lewistown and escaped to the mountains with probably $1,000. Detectives and bloodhounds are on his trail. A later report says the robber's booty did not exceed a hundred dollars. Engineer Donnelly, however, says he held a bag while the robber put into it five thousand dollars in gold bullion and several bags of pennies.

THE CROP REPORT OF ROCK COUNTY

COMPILED BY COUNTY CLERK AND NEARLY READY FOR PUBLICATION.

COUNTY IS PROSPEROUS

Total Property Value Being Over Forty-nine Millions of Dollars—But Seventeen Watches in County.

Crop reports of Rock county for the year 1908 have been received at the court house and have been compiled by County Clerk Lee and these with the report of the county assessors will be put on the press soon for publication in pamphlet form. The reports show many interesting things concerning the prosperity and wealth of Rock county. One of these is that if the wealth of Rock county were evenly divided among the residents of the county, each man, woman and child numbered in the census of 1915 would receive an inheritance of $157.46.

A peculiar fact shown is that there are but seventeen watches in the county, or at least but seventeen are included in the assessors' roll. This is explained by the fact that only watches valued at forty dollars or more are taxed. The seventeen time pieces are valued at $815. There are 1,611 pianos whose valuation is set for $141,417 and 73 organs worth in all $1,559. Automobiles number 179 with a value of $94,785. Other indications of wealth are that bank stock is worth $967,492, while merchants' and manufacturers' stock totals $1,835,758. Real and personal property and water and electrical franchises are valued at $1,290,550. There are 447,611 acres of farm lands in the county and these improvements have a value of $23,102,215, several million more than that of city and village lots with improvements worth $17,665,443.

Least tobacco and steam vessels and of $653,709 and steam vessels and other craft of $10,540. The total value of all personal property is $8,464,450, and of all property in the county, $19,232,111.

In the dairy products, Rock county is forging rapidly to the front. 29,262 milk cows in the county, valued at $339,983, produced during the year 1908 175,826 pounds of butter worth $35,110 and 386,963 gallons of milk, more than that sold to creameries, cheese and condensed milk factories. Other cattle owned in the county numbered 19,639 and their value also placed at $283,676.

In the crop report it is shown that the number of wagons, carriages and sleighs amounts to 10,132, the value being $293,909.

There are 16,079 horses of all ages and their value is $1,201,512. The number of sheep and lambs totals 15,341, and their value is $125,794. The number of swine four months old or over is 21,817, and the total value is $178,680.

The crop report also shows that there are 9,994 bushels of wheat, 2,337,922 bushels of corn, 30,170 bushels of oats, 799,029 bushels of barley, 108,798 bushels of rye, 253,180 bushels of potatoes, 4,487 bushels of apples, 5,500 bushels of strawberries, 176 bushels of bushels of raspberries, 176 bushels of blackberries, 87 bushels of grapes, 4,591 bushels of clover seed and 11,739 bushels of timothy seed.

There were 11,015 tons of sugar beets, 804,098 tons of timothy hay, 1,523 tons of cabbage and 6,030,826 pounds of tobacco. There were 175,826 pounds of butter, whose value was $35,110.

M'KINNEY NOT THE MAN THEY WANTED

Effort Last Evening to Connect Him With Rockford Restaurant Theft Proved Futile.

Acting on the request received over the telephone from Chief Burgess of Rockford, Chief McKinney, the companion of Lavorne, the forgeron inquiry had referred to the Cronin murder case, to the city hall again last evening. He was taken thither by Officer Lee. He was taken to the arrival of Sergeant Homer Read and a Mr. and Mrs. Lewis who formerly managed a restaurant on South Main street in the Forest City. They arrived here at nine o'clock but after looking the man over were unable to identify him as one of the pair of boarders suspected of having stolen $100 in money and a quantity of valuable jewelry last April. Nor was an inspection of Ray-Appleby, the definite results. McKinney was understood that he one time worked as driver for the Rockford Lumber & Pile Co. Officer Mason has been informed that Raymond and McKinney were stopping at the St. Charles hotel, on the identical evening, two years ago, when a masked man tried to hold up Landford Ten-ber.

Now that the Theatrical season is at hand, the Dramatic Editor gets into training.

MAY AMEND THE ANTI-TRUST LAW

COMMISSION APPOINTED BY TAFT MET IN NEW YORK TODAY.

COMMISSION IS EMPOWERED

NO ACTION ON PENSION FUND

COUNCIL WILL PROBABLY IGNORE THE LAW.

CITY FATHERS' SESSION

Last Evening Was Concerned Largely With Street Improvements And Routine Business.

City Attorney H. L. Maxfield's communication to the common council regarding the pension fund law was referred to the judicial committee, and the regular meeting was held on Tuesday evening. Though the law is said to be binding on this city, it is not probable that its provisions will be put into effect unless the initiative and referendum process is used. The threatened measure strictly regulating the moving picture shows is still in abeyance, neither the original ordinance nor its proposed substitute receiving any mention in open session. All of the city fathers, save Alderman Scott, were present at the meeting.

Matters of Finance.
The bill of costs amounting to $33.39 in the unsuccessful action brought by the city to recover a $100 penalty from Mrs. Margaret Waldrath and her husband was allowed. Ald. Brown voting in the negative. Favorable action was taken on the finance committee's report on bills and the salary list and orders were passed directing the city clerk to draw on the treasurer for $400, payable to Contractor W. J. Hill from the general fund, for $60, payable to Fred Hanks for his services as special policeman from Aug. 1 to Sept. 1, and for $27.50 payable to Mrs. Jennie Payne for the care of Miss Elizabeth Decker, a diphtheria patient, in the detention hospital, May 11 to May 25. The purchasing committee was granted further time for the consideration of bids submitted by J. H. Vincent of this city and R. F. Hodges of Milwaukee for furnishing the lumber necessary to re-plank the Monterey bridge.

P. W. Ryan's bonds for the improvement of North High street from Race to Madison street and Madison street from Ravine to Jackson street; John Lutz's bond for the cement curbing and gutter work around the little park at the intersection of Washington and Terrace streets; and the bond of Sam Anton, to whom a junk dealer's license was granted, were all approved and accepted. On the recommendation of the fire and water committee, consent was given to the sale of the property of Mrs. C. E. Klein, who had been appointed a full paid fireman in place of William Corcoran who had quit the department, and asking that his name be placed on the pay roll, beginning Aug. 1, and that the name of the latter be dropped therefrom, was adopted.

Highways.
On motion of Chairman Sheridan of the committee on highways, further time was granted for the consideration of a petition from J. P. Yahn and fifty other property-owners asking that the curb line on Glen street be changed from a point 18 feet out from the property line to a point 14 feet therefrom.

The street assessment committee's action in awarding the contract to P. W. Ryan, the lowest bidder, for improving North High street, from Race to Madison street, and Madison street from Ravine to Jackson street, with macadam and cement curbs and gutters, was approved.

Similar action was taken with regard to the same committee's report that the work of laying the cement curb on Cherry street, from Pleasant street to Western avenue, had been completed and accepted; that $309.06 was due Contractor A. C. Mead of Green Bay, $15.44 chargeable to the Fourth ward fund and the balance to property-owners; and recommending that certificates of special assessment be issued.

Sup. W. E. Dulles' report that 432 yards of crushed stone had been delivered by the crusher plant during the two weeks ending Aug. 28 was accepted.

The street commissioner was authorized to grant permission to C. H. Jackson and other property owners to close St. Lawrence avenue from East street to Jackson street for a few days in order to experiment with a crude oil preparation for laying the dust.

Must Keep Walk Clear.

On motion of Ald. Duffin, the city clerk was directed to instruct the street commissioner to notify the contractors building the Wisconsin Carriage Co. addition on West Milwaukee street that they must keep the sidewalk clear at all times.

Street Commissioner Watson was directed by order to repair Garfield avenue from a point east of Court street to a point west of Second street, at a cost not to exceed $250; to build a cement curb, concrete sidewalk and gutter, and to build crosswalks across Linden avenue on the west side of Washington street; across Olive street on the east side of Washington street; and across Terrace street on the west side of Washington street.

Sewers.
In accordance with the terms of a resolution introduced by Ald. Kimball and passed, owners of property fronting on Jackson and Lincoln streets, from Milwaukee street to S. Third street, South Third street from Jackson to Lincoln street, and South Second street from East street to Lincoln street, were directed to lay the lateral sewers, with and water service pipes from the curb line to the mains. Ald. Brown voted against the resolution. Plans for sewers to be laid in Districts 10, 11, and 14 were accepted.

Vacation for Chief.
All of the patrolmen having completed their 10 day vacations, Chief Appleby was granted the customary 15 day leave of absence provided for the head of the department, the same to commence on Wednesday of this week.

Link and Pin

Chicago and North-Western Lack of motive power it is thought has caused the partial tie-up of freight traffic all along the line to Chicago. At nearly every important siding, between Janesville and Chicago, the tracks are crowded with loads and some passengers have lost as much as half an hour switching in order to get around. Heavy demand for cars, and the fact that many engines have been sent to the Dakota Division for service in the grain belt may be the reason for this condition of affairs.

Two Northern Pacific Stock trains passed through Janesville today and another is due to arrive tonight. The first arrived at 8:15 this morning, the second at 10, while the third is due tonight at 10 o'clock.

Engineer Crowley and Fireman Acon took an extra south yesterday afternoon at 5:30 with engine 1330.

Engineer Talmadge returned this morning from an extended tour of the west which included a visit to the Alaska-Yukon Expedition and other points of interest along the Pacific Coast.

Fireman Garry dispatched last night. Fireman Ashley took a night shift this morning on the 6 a. m. switch-engine with Engineer Knutson.

Engineer Starratt and Fireman Boardman took an extra south yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock with engine 310.

Engineer Wilson and Fireman Dalton had the six o'clock switch-engine last night.

Operator R. T. Stone is taking his vacation.

Machinist Helper Harold Dolan returned to work yesterday after a two week's vacation.

Fireman Hackshaw is laying off today in order to visit relatives in Chicago.

Engineer Goodland and Fireman Fleming are on the 7 o'clock switch-engine today.

Fireman R. K. Smith is taking Engineer Goodland's place on 531 and 541 today.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Working Foreman John Craig left this morning for Holok, where he will get engine 30, which was badly damaged in a wreck in the Holok yards Sunday afternoon. In addition to proceeds to the Milwaukee shops for repairs, some interesting stories are going the rounds concerning Fireman Pat Smith's exclamations to Engineer Davies when he saw that the east-bound extra, which they were on, would be struck by the oncoming 297 with its thirty heavily loaded cars. A fine cut of the wreck is contained in last night's issue of the Beloit Free Press.

Fireman Duxford is on the switch-engine today with Engineer James in place of Fireman L. Rooney who had the job yesterday.

Engineer Williamson and Fireman Knutson took an extra west this morning at 4 o'clock.

Fireman Mahoney went out on 165 this morning with Engineer Higgins.

Brakeman George Barry, who was injured some weeks ago, has recovered and went out last night on the Mineral Point way-freight.

The swing crew, Engineer Harrison and Fireman, are on the Mineral Point passenger train in place of Engineer Fox and Fireman Barker.

The street commissioner was authorized to grant permission to C. H. Jackson and other property owners to close St. Lawrence avenue from East street to Jackson street for a few days in order to experiment with a crude oil preparation for laying the dust.

On motion of Ald. Duffin, the city clerk was directed to instruct the street commissioner to notify the contractors building the Wisconsin Carriage Co. addition on West Milwaukee street that they must keep the sidewalk clear at all times.

Street Commissioner Watson was directed by order to repair Garfield avenue from a point east of Court street to a point west of Second street, at a cost not to exceed $250; to build a cement curb, concrete sidewalk and gutter, and to build crosswalks across Linden avenue on the west side of Washington street; across Olive street on the east side of Washington street; and across Terrace street on the west side of Washington street.

Johnny—A man dropped a dime in the gutter.
Father—Did it take so long to find it?
Johnny—No, but I had to wait until he went away.

SLED RUNS ON LEVEL

Propeller Has Teeth That Dig Into Crust of Snow.

If somebody would only invent a sled that would run uphill, the small boy's winter joys would be complete. A Kan- sas man has taken a step in the right direction by devising a sled that will run on level. This sled is equipped with a row of teeth attached to bars that slide backward and forward through brackets along the sides. The bars are operated by pivoted attached levers, which are pushed back and forth by the person on the sled. These levers are also pivoted at the front and dig into the crust of the snow.

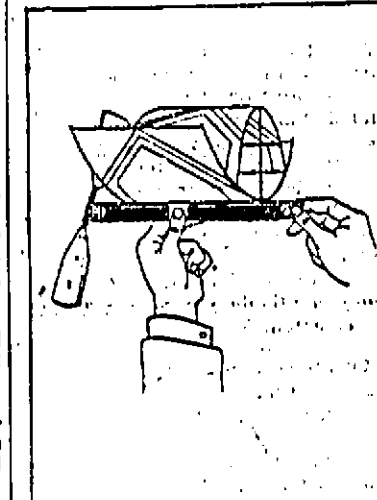

DON'T NEED TO WALK TO HILL.

Only when the bar is pushed forward. At other times they dig into the snow. With a sled equipped in this fashion a boy may sit down comfortably at his front door and propel himself nearly along until he reaches the hill where he wants to "go." The propelling device is so constructed that it does not by any means interfere with the progress of the sled on level hills, where the levers then act as guides.

GLIDES THROUGH THE AIR

Toy Boaring Machine Which Makes Actual Flights Overhead.

The toy maker keeps close on the heels of the scientist and inventor in his search for novelties for the nursery, and thus it is that the little ones are often as familiar with the latest developments of the world of progress as the older ones are. It is no uncommon thing to encounter, for instance, a child who is entirely familiar with all the parts and functions of an automobile, although it may never have had the privilege of riding in one, and this knowledge has been picked up through playing with a modern toy, either about his own home or that of some companion. Generally speaking, the only flying-machine which really flies is the one that way into the hands of children have been those operated on the end of a string with some resemblance to their large counterparts which soar through the air, but the newest arrival in toyland is an airplane which really flies under its own power.

The supporting surfaces consist of paper secured to light sticks of bamboo, and this carries a light aluminum frame-work with a propeller. A key-winding apparatus makes it convenient to set the rubber spring which drives the propeller. When released this machine flies a distance of from 50 to 100 feet, and may be adjusted to return to the spot from which it started.

DEATHS WON'T STOP RACES.

Auto Man Decide to Have Another Contest Despite Fatalities.

New York, Aug. 31.—Despite the seven tragedies of the recent motor races at Indianapolis and the two at Brighton Beach race track last week, a statement from the Motor Racing association announced that another 24-hour speed carnival will be held at Brighton Beach this fall, and that nine makers and dealers have promised to enter cars.

The association regrets the "recent" and "adverse" criticism of automobile racing, and declares that "the accidents at Brighton were not due to any flaw in the track."

Moon to Eclipse Mars.

(Janesville, N.Y., Aug. 31.—An interesting eclipse of Mars by the moon, visible throughout the United States, will take place to-morrow evening, according to a bulletin issued by Prof. William R. Brooks at Smith observatory. The phenomenon will last an hour, beginning in the longitude of Washington, at 8:42 and ending at 9:29.

117 Killed by Dutch Troops.

Batavia, Java, Aug. 31.—Sharp punishment has been inflicted upon the rebels of the island of Flores by a Dutch detachment, 15 members of which were killed in an ambush set by the natives. The Dutch sent for reinforcements and attacked the rebels fiercely. The natives had 117 men killed.

FLOOD VICTIMS ARE GIVEN AID

DIAZ AND AMERICAN AMBASSADOR SEND $31,000 TO MONTEREY.

DEATH LIST REACHES 2,000

Loss to Property Estimated at $30,000,000,000 and 15,000 Are Homeless—Have Recovered 800 Bodies—Work to Prevent Famine.

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—More appalling details have been received today from Monterey where floods cost the lives of 2,000 persons and caused a property loss now estimated at $30,000,000. Aid is being rushed to the sufferers and messages from the United States tell of help that is coming from that country.

President Diaz telegraphed $30,000, Vice-President Corral contributed $2,000, and Ambassador Thompson $1,000 to the fund. Others are contributing liberally, a public subscription list having been opened in all parts of the republic.

The fact that the Red Cross of the United States is to give aid to the sufferers has been learned here with profound satisfaction. On behalf of the United States government the American ambassador has sent condolences to President Diaz.

Bankers Estimate Losses.

The National bank officials estimate the loss in the business center of Monterey at $5,000,000. The loss to the big smelter and industrial plants outside the city limits will amount to as much. The value of the eighteen blocks of buildings, mostly of poor construction, which were destroyed, is fixed at about $3,000,000. The railway losses, although not yet known, are believed to reach $4,000,000.

Many of the smaller settlements in the state have been wholly destroyed or badly damaged, while the crops everywhere have been ruined.

Gen. Reyes is said to have left his mountain retreat and is going to the aid of the people. Reyes has been practically surrounded by government troops near the mountain town of Galeana for a fortnight. The announcement that he is going to Monterey has created much excitement, even in the face of the great disaster; possible political complications are feared and the situation is being watched with the keenest interest.

Correspondent Visits Ruins.

The Santa Catarina river at Monterey has subsided sufficiently to permit a passage into the district lying to the south and a visit to that section by a correspondent revealed an appalling condition. People who had been moved from the flood of "Saturday morning" had been without food until yesterday.

On the south side of the river evidence of the terrible destruction wrought by the flood were to be seen on every hand. Five blocks of the district were "as though" they had never existed and for the remaining portion of the district, bodies were being taken from the ruins and buried by gentlemen.

Thus far no Americans have been reported lost and it is not expected that any of them are missing, as few foreign families resided in the district.

Food Supply Serious Problem.

The food supply is a serious problem in the city at the present time and prices on nearly every article have soared. Bakers are unable to bake the regular supply of bread as many of their ovens were flooded during the rains and there is a scarcity of wood in the city.

Corn is plentiful, but practically all the mills for grinding it have been destroyed. Vegetables are scarce and there is no fresh beef in the city. Milk is scarce and owing to the breaking of the main supply pipe of the water works, there is no drinking water.

A food and water famine is threatened and unless trains are got through from the north soon conditions in Monterey will be most serious for all rich and poor alike.

PULLMAN COMPANY ROBBED.

Second Theft in Two Months Is Puzzling the Police.

"Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 31.—For the second time within as many months a remittance box of the Pullman Car Company containing hundreds of dollars has disappeared from the baggage car of a South Shore railroad train.

Absolutely no explanation can be made for the occurrences. As if the vand of a magician had been waved about the car and an unknown occult force thereby inspired, the box and its golden contents have twice vanished. The money was shipped by the paymaster at Pullman, Ill., Saturday to his agent at Michigan City to meet the pay roll at this point.

Try to Die; Wedding Results.

New York, Aug. 31.—Frank Williamson and Florence L. Wood of Brooklyn were married in a Brooklyn hospital where they are recovering from bullet wounds inflicted in a suicide pact last Wednesday night. Their nearly successful attempt at death brought the young couple to their senses.

Arsenic in the Duplications.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kaiser died from eating duplications in which Mrs. Kaiser inadvertently used arsenic instead of baking powder.

Strange Provision of Nature.

Dumars. Most men die without crying. Not one has died without de-stroying.

ATLANTIC OCEAN RECORD LOWERED BY MAURETANIA

Great Liner Makes Voyage from New York to Queensvow in Fast Time.

Queensvow, Ireland, Aug. 31.—Cutting nearly three hours off her former record the Mauretania of the Cunard line, the largest steamship afloat, made the voyage from New York to Queensvow in four days, 14 hours and 27 minutes over the short course.

By this achievement it was made possible to reach London from the American metropolis in five days, one hour and 35 minutes.

Queensvow, Newport and Fishguard were lavishly decorated with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack when the great liner steamed majestically into Queensvow harbor. It had been announced that the Mauretania was after its own record and the townspeople were prepared to give the ship and her crew a magnificent welcome. Practically the entire populace was at the docks when the liner arrived, and cheers greeted the commander as he appeared on the bridge. A general holiday was proclaimed throughout the towns.

The Mauretania docked at 7:27 o'clock and the Irish contingent was quickly landed. With all the ardor of real record breakers the crew unloaded the mails and the vessel continued to Fishguard, where she dropped anchor at 1:05 o'clock.

A special staff of customs officers was in waiting to insure a speedy inspection of the baggage. Special trains were awaiting the passengers, and they were quickly en route to London, where they arrived at 6:35 p. m.

The trains were welcomed at the station at the British capital by tremendous crowds and the mails were distributed last night.

WORLD A PARADISE IN 1914.

Such Is Theory of Delegates to Convention at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Millions in the early days of the millennium have gathered here from several states for their annual conference which began today. For four days services will be held in Convention hall. The followers of the sect believe that in 1914, "after times of great trouble," the world is to be transformed into a paradise. They profess to find their foundation for this belief in the study of Scripture prophecies, which form the principal theme of study at the meetings here.

The conference is under the auspices of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society. The organization's headquarters are in Brooklyn, and the convention, upon concluding its meetings here next Friday, will adjourn to the city for the final services on Sunday.

REBUKE GOMPERS IN FRENCH CAPITAL

IS INFORMED THAT EUROPEAN LABOR DOESN'T CARE FOR HIS OPINIONS.

AUSTRIAN GETS SARCASTIC

Delegate to the International Trades Unions Congress in Paris Draws a Spirited Reply from United States Labor Leader.

Paris, Aug. 31.—American labor and Samuel Gompers, head of the federation in the United States, received a stinging rebuke in the International Trades Unions congress when European delegates, in the presence of Mr. Gompers, denounced what they termed America's equivocal attitude toward joining the international movement.

Mr. Gompers needed all his old-time energy to reply to the attack. He insisted that the problems and policies of American trades unionism were so intermingled with American traditions and ideas that Americans could ill spare the time to encounter the influence of European leaders where the trades unionism tendencies were temperamentally different.

Favors World-Wide Union. Nevertheless, as an evidence, that the United States was anxious for international co-operation, Mr. Gompers introduced a proposal favoring world-wide organization which would "defend the rights and interests of all and create international fraternity and solidarity."

The clash came over the question of the exact status of Mr. Gompers and the American Federation of Labor in the conference.

Mr. Gompers explained that for the present he was merely an auditor but was ready to give his opinions. It has been the aspiration of the American workmen to come into closer contact with the labor movement in Europe, as they were profoundly attached to the cause of solidarity of labor. One obstacle in the way of affiliation, he said, was the feeling that antagonism existed in Europe towards American trades unionism. Moreover, it was feared that the American workmen might be compelled to subordinate their policies to those of men knowing little or nothing about American industrial conditions and problems.

"Personally," he continued, "I have no authority to pledge the affiliation of the American Federation of Labor, but I believe it will come in time."

Attacked by an Austrian. Mr. Gompers' statement was received coldly. Several delegates jumped to their feet to protest. Huber, an Austrian delegate, vehemently characterized Mr. Gompers' explanation as mockery. He, like the others, had been under the impression that the Americans meant business and that Mr. Gompers was the official delegate from that country. Otherwise he could not understand how the American resolutions happened to be printed in the official program.

"We thank you for your opinions," he said, "but we do not need them. Your policies may not permit you to come to us, but one day, American workmen, you will realize that your policies are erroneous and you will see the necessity of joining the international convention."

Mr. Gompers, stinging under the rebuke, but unflinching, arose to reply. "I regret," he exclaimed, "that you have misconstrued my remarks as an attack upon European trades unionism. I repeat, we are sincerely desirous of international federation, but only so far as it preserves the American conception of unionism. If Europe does not want us it will be unfortunate. Nevertheless, we will continue to do everything possible to attain the goal for which the human race is struggling—the international fraternity and unity."

Huber Renews Sarcastic. Huber retorted that it was now seven years since the Americans began talking about joining the international confederation and it was about time a decision was reached. "It now appears," he concluded, "that Mr. Gompers is merely on a voyage of discovery."

M. Legion, the international secretary, ended the controversy with the statement that Mr. Gompers was only a guest, but he hoped that that official was convinced that the moment had arrived for the American Federation of Labor to join forces with their European brethren.

SLAYS TWO GIRLS AND SEAF.

Minnesota Farmer Murders His Housekeeper's and Own Daughter.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Aug. 31.—Will Tibbets, a wealthy farmer, living near Duluth, killed Cecil Norton, the 16-year-old daughter of his housekeeper, his daughter, Dorothy Tibbets, 12 years old, set fire to his residence to conceal the double murder, and then hung himself. Neighbors arrived in time to put out the fire and discovered the bodies under burning hay. Tibbets is a widower, 70 years old, and his family consisted of the girl, a small boy and two younger children.

Everything indicates an assault by Tibbets on Miss Norton, and that Tibbets killed her with a short iron bar to silence her.

Burnum, Minn., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Fred Young, aged 22, wife of a farmer residing about five miles southeast of here, drowned her three children, aged one, three and five years, in a well, set fire to the barn, destroying it, and also set fire to the house. Falling in her efforts to burn the building, she took a dose of paroxysm and then washed her throat several times with a knife. If she recovers she will be sent to an insane asylum.

CANAL UNHURT BY QUAKE.

People Are Alarmed as Panama Rocks But None Is Injured.

Panama, Aug. 31.—The isthmus of Panama experienced an earth shock, extending over a large extent of territory. No damage was done, however, nor is it believed that the canal has been affected in any way. Lieut. Col. G. W. Goethals gave out the following statement:

"The seismographs on the isthmus at eight o'clock this morning recorded earth movements at various stations across the isthmus. However, they were not sufficiently severe to be generally felt nor to have any injurious effects on any of the canal work now in execution or in prospect."

The people were greatly alarmed, but no one was injured.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

No man or woman is great enough to be slovenly. I have known—and, of course, you have—many people who felt justified in developing their minds and ignoring their bodies because they thought the mental was so much more important than the physical.

I think that's a very wrong outlook.

No mental power, however great, exempts its possessor from the care of the person.

A brilliant, slovenly person may succeed in life, but only by using twice as much force as he need have expended. He will never get so far as the man or woman who takes care to add a prepossessing appearance to a prepossessing mind.

A few months ago I was much pleased to hear that a young minister, for whose brilliance I had much respect, had been honored by a call from a small town, where he was preaching, to one of Boston's most famous and beautiful churches.

Yesterday I was saddened by hearing that his resignation had been asked and given, and that he had left the church and gone back to a small parish.

And the reason was simply this: He did not keep his person clean.

A small thing you say?

I don't know. A very large one, I should think, if it had the power to come between his congregation and his message.

A woman in our town, whose slovenliness about her dress and her person has made her a town character, took the civil service examination recently. She is as clever as she is slovenly and passed at the head of the list. She has never received an appointment. It is an open secret that her failure to do so is simply because the officials will not have a person of her disgraceful appearance in a public position.

In the college from which I graduated the commencement part is one of the prizes for which the best students strive.

In awarding it last year a girl of the highest scholarship was passed over for one who had received less excellent rank, because the first girl was nothing more or less than "sloppy." The college was not willing that a girl of untidy appearance—no matter how brilliant her mind, no matter how clever a speaker she might have made—should represent it on its commencement platform.

A shopkeeper might have an excellent stock of articles, but if his window show were thick with dust and his doorway choked with litter the public would be pretty apt to pass by and go to the more attractive shop down the street, though the articles sold there were no better or even scarce as good.

Anyone who thinks the contents of his mind ought to make friends and win success for him, no matter how slovenly and unattractive his person may be, is just such a shopkeeper.

The examples I have cited have been extreme cases, of course.

But on that account they are the better object lessons to remind any of us who may sometimes be careless in some slight particular that it never pays.

TAFT'S TROUBLES

With all his smiles and outward semblance of happiness, there is no doubt that President Taft has a hard task ahead of him when he begins his tour of the western country. No one realizes it better than he does. The hue and cry has gone forth that many of the western Senators and members of congress who voted against the tariff measure were still in accord with Taft's ideas; that Taft did not approve of the measure as it was passed. Taft, however, evidently did approve of the measure and his statement made public when he signed it showed that he had followed each portion of the measure carefully. In his addresses on this coming trip he will have something to say about the measure and about the men who voted against it. He will make clear his attitude on the subject, which is interesting many politicians who do not know just which way to jump—men who have blindly followed the leadership of the very congressmen and Senators who voted against the measure and were told that these men acted in accordance with the views of the President himself. Either President Taft will cement his party into one solid organization or some of the western leaders will go to Bryan and democracy. It is a difficult task that confronts the President on this trip and he knows it. Add to this his trouble in the Ballinger dispute. Ballinger, a member of his own cabinet, selected by him to fill an important position, is flying east as fast as the trains will take him to lay his side of the Pinchot trouble before him. Here is another difficult problem for him to solve and really the first serious trouble that he will have to confront. Taking it all in all Taft is having much to worry him even though outwardly he is happy and carefree on the Beverly golf links.

Every indication now points to a resumption of the "Crown" murder mystery. It is a question that the public would like solved.

American Sander boats showed clean sheets to the three German boats which raced yesterday for the cups.

The condition of the coal bin is the next interesting problem for the householder to consider.

At the French aviators' races the Americans took a little bit of the top all right.

A few steel mills would not come in unless just at the present time.

September comes in tomorrow and the straw hat goes out.

For profits. He finds that rates are not adjusted to the hazard of loss. There are preferred classes of risks. Cities are not penalized for their liability to conflagration, and individual risks are taken at improper rates. These maladjustments of rates to risks stimulate competition and directly affect the annual waste by fire.

Rate discriminations are evils of competitive conditions for which remedy has been sought in co-operation. Companies co-operate to regulate rates and commissions, for supervision of risks, to study hazards and to repress incendiarism. Yet, however desirable co-operation may be from every practical point of view, nearly half of our state legislatures have reached the conclusion expressed in one form or another that fire insurance co-operation, in regulating rates and commissions especially, is detrimental to the public interest. Anti-compact laws are widely in force. The fear of monopoly, whether well grounded or not, has apparently put a limit to progress in reducing fire waste by co-operation. Literally, this is another case of escaping from the frying-pan only to fall into the fire.

FIRE DRILLS
This morning's papers tell a story of some seven hundred little tots in a Catholic orphanage in New York city, the oldest not ten, the youngest three, being saved from utter destruction and a horrible death by their fire drill. Carefully drilled and well taught these little lives were saved where otherwise their fate was certain. Janesville's schools are soon to open and with the opening of the new year the board of education and the superintendent should see to it that fire drills are part of the regular work of the pupils.

It is somewhat confusing to say that the original college widow is dead. Originality in this respect is something that is difficult to solve as was the Sphinx riddle to the ancients.

Still the city street cars continue to rumble and threaten to collapse at each vibration and people wonder why Janesville is sometimes called a Jay-town.

Members of Triumph Camp wishing to go to Shropshire Thursday afternoon, Sept. 2d, will meet at McCue & Duse's drugstore at 2:30 p. m. Anna Morse, Oracle.

Harriman is so much better this morning that he is planning for a raid upon the men in Wall Street, who tried to oust his control of certain stocks.

Speedy Mr. Curtiss is not yet ready to challenge a carrier pigeon, but there are lots of other birds he can beat if need be.

By WALT MASON
(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathews Adams.)

I like to gather rocks and pitch them at the people who are rich. I find that when I'm feeling gay, and wish to make a grand stand play, there is no scheme so better draws, there's nothing brings me more applause, than knocking down some plutocrat, I don't amount to much myself; I've failed in fifty-seven ways; disaster's tagged me all my days. I was the junk of my town, and have it lived it down; but now and then I throw a fit, and rust the rich, and make a hit. I say that I'm reduced to need by corporation guile and greed; the money barons of the East have robbed my children of their feast; and they, with hearts as hard as stone, have mocked my poor old granny's groans; they put a mortgage on my cot, and stole the claret from my lot. And all the failures gather near, and wave their hats, and cry: "Hoar, hoar!" And all the Jonahs wring my hand, and say I'm sent to save the land!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

In other words, if insurance rates are too high, they discourage the investment of capital in improved construction. Lowering of rates encourages flow of capital to such uses. If rates are placed too low they cause to earn dividends for the company. Between these two limits the problem of fire insurance rates has a very direct bearing on the amount of fire losses.
From figures of premium income, Professor Zartman shows that 55% goes to pay losses, 20% for commissions and agents, 15% for maintaining the home office, 5% for taxes and

Heart to Heart Talks.

DANGERS OF IDLENESS.

Vacation time is here, and with it comes the danger to the boys and girls of sustained idleness, for it is as true now as when it was written long ago that—

"Satan still some mischief finds
For idle hands to do."

Parents, whether rich or poor or medium, ought to provide some special employment for their children during vacation. And, for that matter, each day ought to have its task just as soon as the child arrives at the age of accountability.

For instance—
The boy should be held accountable personally for some chore, or if he has a dog he should be made to understand that he must provide regularly for the animal. The girl should know that if her cat is to be fed she must attend to it, or if she has a doll she must care for it.

Little things these.

But highly important.

Habits form character, and character determines destiny. Responsibility makes personality, and personality counts for success.

Then there is the imagination.

Imagination is one of the child's greatest gifts and most useful powers if properly controlled. Unguided and uncontrolled, it is likely to go off on a wrong tangent. Give your child a task in which it can perfect its imagination in deeds done, something practical, and the child will grow in moral strength naturally.

And, besides, the task will absorb vitality that otherwise might be used mischievously if not viciously.

Keep the child busy.

By doing so the habit of healthful employment will get into the fiber of its being and you will save it from a thousand temptations.

"To be sure, 'all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,' but it is also true that all play and no work makes Jack a vicious boy."

The child must play? Certainly.

It will need no teaching for that.

But it should not grow up with the idea that the world is all a playground. That conception of things has ruined many a boy and girl.

One of the greatest needs of modern teaching is that the idea of DUTY should be ingrained in the makeup of the coming generation.

Teach your child by chore, or occupation or by regular tasks regularly done that, while this is a fine world, it is bounded on the north by DUTY, on the south by DUTY, on the east by DUTY and on the west by DUTY.

Had No Use for the Scythe.

Daniel Webster's father meant him for a farmer. Taking him out in the hay field, Daniel just tinkered with his scythe—it hung too far out, it hung too far in, and no matter how the father fixed the scythe, it did not hang to suit Daniel, until in despair the father cried: "Daniel, get out of this field and hang the scythe to suit yourself." Daniel hung it on a tree, with the remark: "There it hangs to suit me."

THE NOVEL IN PITTSBURGH IN WHICH THE MAD MIBER HOARDED HIS WEALTH.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Rich enough to live in a mansion yet taking out of a miserly existence in a hovel; able to dine like a king, yet feeding as a beggar; with wealth sufficient to dress in the height of fashion, yet clothed in rags; able to surround himself with every luxury, to spend the summer by the seaside, to cruise in a yacht, yet finally having to be rescued by the police from a condition of filth, Peter Liebach of the North Side, this week paraded his first really "square" meal that he has eaten in years and at night experienced the novelty of sleeping in a clean bed. Liebach is known to be worth $50,000 and the total may run to $500,000. Chalked upon one of the walls of his moon little house were the figures "$500,000." Whether this means that the man has that much money or meant to continue his miserly mode of living until he got it are features of his case that are now being investigated. Money found in his house yesterday

New York City.—Now that E. H. Harriman has returned from Europe it is confidently predicted that the greatest railroad merger ever conceived under one controlling hand will be consummated.

It is just a year ago this month that Harriman first placed the outgoing wedge in the Gould lines and during this interim the ever-active railroad king has played his cards that he has been in practical control of most of the Gould lines. This does not satisfy him, however, and he wishes to purchase outright the Gould interests in the New York Central. This will give Mr. Harriman practically three transcontinental lines, two in the central states and one in from the south by means of his steamship company.

With the New York Central added to the Harriman fold the lines under his control would have a capitalization of more than a billion dollars and an earning capacity of nearly half a billion dollars. The principal roads which he now controls are Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, Oregon Railroad and Navigation Co., Illinois Central and the Baltimore & Ohio.

It is understood that Harriman's purpose is to create a billion dollar securities holding company for all the New York Central lines, but it is not thought that he will try to include the securities of his other roads. For some time the attorneys have been trying to work out a plan for the holding company which will be court proof, but many difficulties have been encountered. It is understood that the Vanderbilts are more or less friendly to the plan, owing to the way the fight with the Northern Securities company, and that this feeling is the purpose which Harriman has entertained for some time.

of eliminating the Vanderbilts by purchasing their stock. The contemplated plan will also give him authority over the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, the Big Four and the smaller roads comprising the New York Central lines.

W. C. Brown, whom Mr. Harriman placed in control of the New York Central lines as soon as he became director on the board last year, will undoubtedly be made acting head of the entire Harriman system. The passing of the Vanderbilts is the logical result of the entry of Harriman into the New York Central board, as there can be but one power in a railroad board of which Harriman is a member, that power being Harriman himself. That Harriman rules every board of which he is a member is a well recognized fact on Wall street, which often smiles when Harriman announces that a board has decided to do this and so. The acquisition of the New York Central by Harriman would give him a second transcontinental route and place in him such a power to make and to control the rates of transportation as was not dreamed of a few years ago. This power would extend to traffic east and west and also north and south.

FOUND GUILTY OF SUNDAY SELLING

Patrick J. McKeligue Convicted by Jury This Morning—Validity of Ordinance Will Now Be Argued.
Patrick J. McKeligue, proprietor of the Ottomani House bar on West Milwaukee street, was found guilty by a jury of six in municipal court this morning of the charge of retelling liquor on the Sabbath Day. By virtue of a motion in arrest of judgment, however, sentence was not pronounced and the validity of the local municipal ordinance relating to the Sunday sale of intoxicating drinks will be argued by Attorney E. H. Ryan, for the defendant, and City Attorney H. L. Maxfield next Saturday morning.

The ordinance was questioned at the very outset, but by consent this phase of the matter was waived temporarily and the case tried on its merits. Attorney Ryan claims (1) that the Sunday regulation of liquor selling is within the province of state law and that the local ordinance is not only superfluous but also null and void, and (2) that even if the first contention does not hold, the measure in question was defective in that it was signed, after its passage, by S. H. Konyon, the then president of the common council, instead of Dr. J. St. John, the then mayor, whereas there is nothing to show that Dr. St. John was not in town during the two weeks allowed the chief executive of the city for the consideration of such a measure.

Frank Willard, a young farmer from the town of La Prairie, was the chief witness against Mr. McKeligue. He testified that, in company with Roy Lawson, he visited the rear door of the Ottomani House, Sunday morning, August 22, and after obtaining entrance, purchased two pint bottles of whiskey. Lawson said on the witness stand that it was true that they had some drinks of whiskey but that he did not think they entered the Ottomani House and was not at all sure that Willard got the booze there. Patrick McKeligue, and two of his boarders, Patrick Monahan and Roy Uram, sworn that they were in the dining room, near the rear entrance, all the morning, and that no such transaction as Willard recounted took place. They admitted that Willard and Lawson came to the outer screen door and asked for whiskey, but as Willard told them he did not sell the stuff on Sunday and refused point blank to accommodate them.

The jury of six was composed of: Prof. J. S. Taylor, Louis Skavien, Charles E. Lester, John Davey, Leonard Matthews, and Alfred Bahr. They deliberated for about one half hour.

CLEVELAND CUT OFF HIS CALLING LISTS

Janesville Man Visits Ohio City And Meets With Speedy Disaster There.

If Cleveland is to be visited by Janesville residents in the future who expect to be immune from the laws which restrict the citizens of the Golden Rule community, the realm of John Johnson and three cent fares and other panacea for modern evils they must watch well the sign that no splitting is allowed on the streets, cars or elsewhere—a safe sanitary movement.

Albert Pfister, who is employed at the Myers hotel and has just returned from a two weeks' visit in the east, swears Cleveland is off his calling lists in the future. Mr. Pfister left a train and walked to a street car platform. As he entered the car he cleared his throat; a second later he was in charge of a policeman, and within twenty minutes after reaching the city had paid a fine of $9.75, including costs.

"It happened all so quickly that I did not know what happened," said Mr. Pfister this morning. "I had just landed in town when I was grabbed, and within twenty minutes I had paid my fine and was a sad but wise visitor to Tom Johnson's city. No wonder they can run street cars for three cents a fare if they fine every one who comes into their city and coughs."

REVEREND TIPPETT IS NOT TO RETURN

At the fourth quarterly meeting of the Cargill Methodist church last evening, the members of the church were given a surprise by the announcement of Reverend J. H. Tippett that he would not return to this church for another year's pastorate. Mr. Tippett has been pastor in Janesville for eight years past serving for several years as pastor of the old Court street church before that church and the First Methodist were united in the Cargill Methodist church. The announcement came as a surprise to Mr. Tippett's many friends in the church and city at large.

Jacobs and Sidney Richards to attend the coming session of the church conference at Kenosha as layman delegates. They were also authorized to confer with the bishop as to the new pastor of the Cargill church. The old officers of the church were also re-elected.

"What?"

"I've sold my interest in the Trust. It won't be made known for some time, so don't talk about it, please. But it's settled and done, and I've got the money."

"You have sold the Nickel Trust?"

Lady Maud's lips remained parted in surprise.

"And I've bought you a little present with the proceeds," he answered, putting his large thumb and finger into the pocket of his white waistcoat. "It's only a funny little bit of glass I picked up," he continued, producing a small twist of stiff writing paper. "You needn't think it's so very fine. But it's a pretty color, and when you're out of mourning I dare say you'll make a hairpin of it. I like hand-some hairpins myself, you know."

He had untwisted the paper while speaking, it lay open in the palm of his hand, and Lady Maud saw a stone of the size of an ordinary hazel nut, very perfectly cut, and of that wonderful transparent red color which is known as "pigeon's blood," and which it is almost impossible to describe. Sunlight shining through Persian rose-leaf shrouded upon white silk makes a little patch of color that is perhaps more like it than any other shade of red, but not many Europeans have ever seen that, and it is a good deal easier to go and look at a pigeon's blood ruby in a jeweler's window.

"What a beautiful color!" exclaimed Lady Maud innocently, after a moment. "I don't know they imitated rubies so well, though, of course, I know nothing about it. If it were not an impossibility, I should take it for a real one."

"So should I," assented Mr. Van Torp quietly. "It'll make a pretty hairpin anyway. Shall I have it mounted for you?"

"Thanks, awfully, but I think I should like to keep it as it is for a little while. It's such a lovely color, just as it is. Thank you so much! Do tell me where you got it."

"Oh, well, there was a sort of a traveler came to New York the other day selling them what they call privately, I guess he must be a Russian or something, for he has a kind of an off-look of your husband, only he wears a beard and an eyeglass. It must be about the eyes. Maybe the forehead, too. He'll most likely turn up in London one of these days to sell this invention, or whatever it is."

Lady Maud said nothing to this, but she took the stone from his hand, looked at it some time with evident admiration, and then set it down on its bit of paper, upon a little table by the end of the sofa.

"If I were you, I wouldn't leave it around much," observed Mr. Van Torp carelessly. "Somebody might take a fancy to it. The color's attractive, you see, and it looks like real."

"Oh, I'll be very careful of it, never fear. I can't tell you how much I like it!" She twisted it up tightly in its bit of paper, rose to her feet, and put it away in her writing table.

"I'll be a sort of souvenir of the old Nickel Trust," said her friend, watching her with satisfaction.

"Have you really sold out all your interest in it?" she asked, sitting down again; and now that she returned to the question her tone showed that she had not yet recovered from her astonishment.

"That's what I've done. I always told you I would, when I was ready. Why do you look so surprised? Would you rather I hadn't?"

Lady Maud shook her head and her voice rippled deliciously as she answered:

"I can hardly imagine you without the Nickel Trust that's all! What in the world shall you do with yourself?"

"Oh, various kinds of things. I think I'll get married, for one. Then I'll take a rest and sort of look around. Maybe something will turn up. I've concluded to win the Derby next year—that's something anyway."

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Janesville People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first.

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Janesville citizen.

Mrs. M. Smith, 359 Center St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I suffered severely at times from attacks of rheumatism and backache. My side also pained me and I noticed that the kidney secretions passed too frequently. A neighbor told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to the People's Drug Co. and procured a box. I began to feel better in a short time after commencing their use and the kidney secretions soon became clear and regular in passage. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"Radior! Have you thought of anything else?"

She laughed a little, but was grave the next moment, for she knew him much too well to believe that he had taken such a step out of caprice, or a mere fancy for change. He noticed the grave look and was silent for a few moments.

"The Derby's a side show," he said at last. "I've come over to get married, and I want you to help me. Will you?"

"Can it?" asked Lady Maud, evasively.

"Yes, you can, and I believe there'll be trouble unless you do."

"Who is she? Do I know her?" She was trying to put off the evil moment.

"Oh, yes, you know her quite well. It's Miss Cordova."

"But she's engaged to Mons. Logothetti!"

"I don't care. I mean to marry her if she marries any one. He shall have her anyway."

"But I cannot deliberately help you to break off her engagement! It's impossible!"

"See here," answered Mr. Van Torp. "You know that Greek, and you know me. Which of us will make the best husband for an English girl? That's what Miss Cordova is, after all. I put it to you. If you were forced to choose one of us yourself, which would you take? That's the way to look at it."

"But Miss Donna is not 'forced' to take one of us."

"She's going to be. It's the same. Besides, I said 'I'. Won't you answer me?"

"She's in love with Mons. Logothetti," said Lady Maud, rather desperately.

"Is she, now? I wonder. I don't much think so myself. He's clever and he's obstinate, and he's just made her think she's in love, that's all. Anyhow, that's not an answer to my question. Other things being alike, if she had to choose, which of us would be the best husband for her?—the better, I mean. You taught me to say 'better', didn't you?"

Lady Maud tried to smile.

"Of two, yes," she answered. "You are forcing my hand, my dear friend, she won't over-gravely. 'You know very well that I trust you with all my heart. If it were possible to imagine a case in which the safety of the world could depend on my choosing one of you for my husband, you know very well that I should take you, though I never was the least little bit in love with you, any more than you ever were with me.'"

"Well, but if you would, she ought," argued Mr. Van Torp. "It's for her own good, and as you're a friend of hers, you ought to help her to do what's good for her. That's only fair. If she doesn't marry me, she's certain to marry that Greek, so it's a forced choice, it appears to me."

"But I can't!"

"She's a nice girl, isn't she?"

"Yes, very."

"And you like her, don't you?"

"Very much. Her father was my father's best friend."

"I don't believe in nativism," observed the American, "but that's nothing here nor there. You know what you wrote me. Do you believe she'll be miserable with Logothetti or not?"

"I think she will," Lady Maud answered truthfully. "But I may be wrong."

"No, you're right. I know it. But marriage is a gamble anyway, as you know better than any one. Are you equally sure that she would be miserable with me? Dead sure, I mean."

"No, I'm not sure. But that's not a reason."

"It's a first-rate reason. I care for that lady, and I want her to be happy."

and as you admit that she will have a better chance of happiness with me than with Logothetti, I'm going to marry her myself, not only because I want to, but because it will be a long fight better for her. See? No fault in that line of reasoning, is there?"

"So far as reasoning goes—" Lady Maud's tone was half an admission.

"That's all I wanted you to say," interrupted the American. "So that's settled, and you're going to help me."

WELLMAN STARTS FOR THE NORTH POLE SOON.

The skeleton of the dirigible balloon, "The America," in which Mr. Wellman will again attempt to reach the North Pole. At top—The complete skeleton showing the long 12,000 ft. air tank which holds not only the fuel for its engines but also part of his provisions. This tank forms the base of the deck of the car. Below is shown the framework of the car as compared to the size of a man standing on the petrol tank. The dirigible is 125 feet long and the steel car is 110 feet long.

"No," answered Lady Maud quickly. "I won't help you to break off that engagement. But if it should come to nothing, without your interfering—that is, by the girl's own free will and choice and change of mind, I'd help you to marry her if I could."

"But you admit that she's going to be miserable," said Van Torp stubbornly.

"I'm sorry for her, but it's none of my business. It's not honorable to try and make trouble between engaged people, no matter how ill-matched they may be."

"Funny idea of honor," observed the American, "that you're bound to let a friend of yours break her neck at the very gravel pit where you were nearly smothered yourself in the hunting field you'd grab her bride if she wouldn't listen to you, but in a matter of marriage—oh, no! It's dishonorable to interfere." She made her choice and she must abide by it, and all that kind of stuff!"

Lady Maud's clear eyes met his angry blue ones calmly.

"I don't like you when you say such things," she said, lowering her voice a little.

"I didn't mean to be rude," answered the millionaire, almost humbly. "You see I don't always know. I learnt things differently from what you did. I suppose you'd think it an insult if I said I'd give a large sum of money to your charity the day I married Miss Cordova, if you'd help me through."

"Please, stop," Lady Maud's face darkened visibly. "That's not like you."

"I'll give a million pounds sterling," said Mr. Van Torp slowly.

Lady Maud leaned back in her corner of the sofa, clasping her hands rather tightly together in her lap. Her white throat flushed as when the light of dawn kisses Parian marble, and the fresh tint in her cheeks deepened softly; her lips were tightly shut, her eyelids quivered a little, and she looked straight before her across the room.

"You can do a pretty good deal with a million pounds," said Mr. Van Torp, after the silence had lasted nearly half a minute.

"Don't!" cried Lady Maud, in an odd voice.

"Forty thousand pounds a year," observed the millionaire thoughtfully. "You could do quite a great deal of good with that, couldn't you?"

"Don't! Please don't!"

Talks on Snake Culture

No. 10—Booze and Books

The fellow who wants to see some wood in this world should do a certain amount of reading—the more of it the better, and his private library shouldn't be composed entirely of detective stories. Good books are cheaper now than ever before, and there are free public libraries everywhere, so there is no excuse for a man who looks forward to an evening with his books to be envied by the one who looks forward to an evening with his beer. When a man comes along his thirst until he has to spend all his spare time leading it around, like a tame bear, from one grog parlor to another, he has no time or inclination for books. The appetite for highballs is fatal to the appetite for knowledge. Statistics show that it is fatal to everything worth while. A healthy highball appetite demands all a man's time and attention, and prevents it bitterly if he tries to think of anything else, and that is why he seldom reads anything.

unless it is printed on pink paper. To build up such an appetite takes a lot of time and money, and means the sacrifice of all wholesome and profitable pleasures, and all that a man gets out of it is a three-cornered headache and a taste in the mouth that would break a street sweeper. Is it worth while?

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

"It makes Weak Women Well. It makes Weak Women Strong, and urges them upon you as 'just as good.' Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drug. It is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

Napoleon Said:--

"In Case of War With France, Look in the Third Drawer."

He was prepared for a campaign in advance of actual need.

There are many fall advertising campaigns that right now ought to be mapped out and put "in the third drawer" ready for use. This example of Napoleon's is a good one to follow.

Some pertinent questions a merchant might put to himself in preparing his fall campaign NOW are: What part of my stock should the public be informed of? What are the most salient points in regard to my goods that the public ought to know? What can I say to make my goods more attractive to the people? Have I the proper cuts on hand to illustrate my announcements?

If any argument is needed to convince any merchant that advertising will HELP his business we will be glad to have an interview.

If the report of 20 brilliant Janesville advertising successes will be of interest to you we shall be glad to furnish such a report.

The live, hustling merchant of today does not argue that advertising doesn't pay. He may be at a loss to know just how to advertise HIS business, but that is only a matter of study and knowledge.

This department is always glad to work for and advise with its patrons.

An interview can do no harm—it is almost sure to be of benefit to you.

Putting off your fall campaign is like putting off anything—unless you put some energy into the matter today you are just liable to forget it tomorrow.

Today is short, yesterday is gone, tomorrow may not come. If you have anything to do, get busy now. The telephone is the quick way—77-2 rings, Advertising Department.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Aug. 31, 1866.—Mysterious Death.—The body of A. Hanson was discovered on Main street last night, bearing evident marks of a violent death. No clue has been discovered to throw any light on the transaction and we fear that it must ever remain shrouded in deep mystery.

Broke His Arm.—A boy, aged six years, son of Patrick Connors, living in the Fourth Ward, fell from a fence yesterday, breaking both bones of the right arm between the wrist and the elbow. Dr. Harvey attended the little sufferer.

Injured.—We understand that Mr. Ole Evenson, of the firm of Morse, Hanson & Co., was severely injured in one of his eyes last week, being struck by a stick flying from a circus saw in operation at the establishment of the above firm. It is thought he will lose the sight of one eye, but that the other may probably be saved.

Soldier's Monument.—A movement is now on foot to devise a plan of action to procure funds for the erection of a monument to the memory of the fallen soldiers of Rock county. No decided steps have yet been taken.

In the enterprise, but as soon as the organization can be perfected the work will begin. The design is to erect a monument on the public square of the city, unless some more appropriate location is suggested, at a cost, perhaps, of $20,000. The sum is a large one but we feel assured that it will be forthcoming. Rock county sent to the field, during the late rebellion, some 5,000 soldiers. Out of that number nearly 500 were killed or died of wounds or disease. Other counties in this and adjoining states are erecting monuments to the memory of their slain heroes, and we should not be backward in doing our share towards adorning the land with these imperishable monuments of a people's gratitude.

Harvest.—The harvest of wheat, oats, rye and barley is nearly over with. A few days more of stacking will close the campaign, and our farmers can take a brief season of rest. The yield promises to be fair and the grain good. Wages have been reasonable and the opening of grain show, so that, considering all things, the season has been a most favorable one to the tillers of the soil.

MONROE.

Monroe, Wis., Aug. 31.—Joshua Wells has let the contract for the construction of a double store building on West Washington street adjoining the garage of Holloway & Patterson, to Samuel Isley, who will begin work in a few days. The building will be 40x80 feet, two stories high, and when completed will be occupied by Millman & Carter, hardware dealers.

The second floor will be used for farm implements. Willis Ludlow will build two dwelling houses on North Jackson street, each costing $3,400. There were five bidders for the contract, which was awarded to Samuel Isley. The building will be brick veneered. The cylinders of the Illinois Central gasoline motor became overheated here yesterday and had to be taken back to the shops. A steam train was sent out from Freeport to take the run to Madison.

Miss Maggie Smith of Cadiz, and J. G. Bornmeyer of Chicago, were married at Freeport at the parsonage of the English Lutheran church.

Samuel Hutzell, long a resident of Juda, died at Shenandoah, Ia., where he went two years ago to make his home with a son. He was born in 1827 in Pennsylvania and came to Green county in 1852. His wife died seven years ago. Seven children survive him. The funeral will be held at Juda tomorrow.

The first arrivals for the M. E. conference of the West Wisconsin district came today for the examinations which are being conducted at the court house. The conference opens tomorrow morning at the M. E. church. Two hundred and fifty delegates will be in attendance.
